School Board Wants Joint Meeting With Council

Monterey Peninsula Unified School District trustees will ask Monterey city councilmen to meet in a work session early in September to discuss the sale of surplus school property and a proposed freeway route that would cut through a 50-ace secondary school site near the Monterey Airport.

Superintendent Allan Petersdorf suggested the work session at the school board's last meeting.

He explained that city representatives wanted to discuss the highway route at the board's September 5 meeting, and that city and school officials have also been meeting over the city's interested in buying the school district's 11.8 acre site on Skyline Boulevard. Both items, along with several other subjects of mutual concern, could be discussed at a work session, Petersdorf said.

The city has urged school trustees to approve the proposed routing of a new Highway 68 freeway that would slice through the 50-acre Monterra site, purchased to contain a junior-senior high school complex when enrollment warrants expansion. Trustees balked, however, at splitting the site.

The school district wants to sell the Skyline property, using proceeds to help construct at new Instructional Materials Center. City officials have expressed interest in the land.

In other action, the board approved a school calendar for 1973-74 calling for 178 teaching days, and adopted 1972-73 courses of study for all grades and school schedules for the instructional year starting in September.

The board was forced to rescind a joint powers agreement under which the Monterey system would have joined in a pool with Santa Clara County schools to lower the cost of financing an unemployment insurance program for non-teaching employees. State legislators mandated the unemployment insurance program, which would have required a 13-cent tax increase locally. By joining the Santa Clara County pool, Monterey's costs could have been financed with a tax increase of three cents or less. But legislators then created a statewide pool system that will require a six cent tax the first year.

Trustees also approved a boundary change between Stilwell and Marshall schools, on Fort Ord, so that children attending the schools won't be forced to cross North-South Road.

Marina to Still Sell Fireworks

Directors of the Marina Fire District have decided not to prohibit sale of fireworks there after all. Last March, the same body voted to ban their sale after July 5.

Last week, they voted 3-1 to "postpone indefinately any action on the sale or use of safe fireworks."

The board was required to take action on this subject again because improper legal methods were used in March and the action was declared invalid.

Voting for the motion to postpone the ban were president Robert Cropley, Robert Mast and Art Clark. The sole dissenter was Richard Chase. Fred Novinger, the other director, was absent.

One of the reasons for postponing the ban was money. Clark pointed out that the Lions Club made $1,400 from its fireworks booth this year.

Bindel Returns as President

For the third time in the last nine years, Cecil Bindel of Monterey has been made president of the Peninsula Branch of the NAACP.

He automatically moved up to the office from is position of first vice-president, when the branch executive board accepted the resignation of Henry Hutchins as president.

Hutchins told the boad he was guitting because of the pressing demands of his position as assistant superintendent of the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District.

Bindel will serve as president until next January, when Hutchins term runs out.

Planners Face 'Big' Problem

How do you hide a million gallon water tank? If you know, the Seaside Planning Commission would like the solution.

The are faced with that problem because the California American Water Company wants to build another tank that size next to its existing tank on its lot at Hilby Avenue and Luzern Street.

The commission issued a use permit for the tank last May, but it stipulated that the tank must be buried for aesthetic reasons. However, David Fiscus, the company's peninsula district manager, told the commissioners that burial would place the new tank on a different elevation than the old one and would cause all sorts of engineering problems.

Fiscus pointed out that when the company bought the land 25 years ago, it had the intention of adding another tank and, he said, the time has come for that.

Planning Commissioner William Burris suggested a possible land swap with the redevelopment agency to allow the tank to be buried on higher ground, which would keep the tank at the same level as the present unburied tank.

The commissioners voted unanimously for a stuyd of such an alternative site.

MIGHTY GOOD - These early birds enjoyed good eats at traditional breakfast kicking off Monterey County Fair. This one was held last Wednesday morning and Mrs. Rosemary Clendenin (center) of Western Security Agency got plenty of nourishment before full day of work. Fair was huge success, shattering all attendance records. On Friday, Joe Biobi of Santa Cruz, 92 and Mrs. Daisy V. Luce of Pacific Grove, 93, were crowned senior king and queen. They were oldest persons present.

Supervisors Drop Plans For Jail Bond Issue

In recent action, the Monterey County Board of Supervisors has decided to drop lans to put a $2 million bond issue for a new county jail on the November ballot.

The move came after the board deleted a $1 million allocation for construction of the jail in its 1973 budget. The deletion was made when the county grand jury urged another bond issue be submitted to the voters.

A smiliar bond was turned down 2-1 in the recent June primary.

Originally, the board was to have voted approval of the bond two weeks ago, but, at the urging of the Peninsula and Salinas League of Women Voters, action was delayed. These groups urged an outside, professional study be made of the jail and its needs before the issue be resubmitted to the voters.

The board hoped that at last week's meeting someone would come forward, after the delay, and show support for the new jail. However, no one--not even a representative from the Sheriff's Department--was present.

It was then that the board decided to drop the issue by unanimous vote.

In other action, the supervisors proposed that a presentation be made to the State Highway Commission urging that some interim measures be taken to alleviate growing traffic congestion on Highway 1, especially at that two lane stretch of road alongside Carmel from Ocean Avenue to Rio Road and the Carmel River leading south to Big Sur.

The proposal was made after the board was told by County Road Commissioner Bruch McClain that the proposed Hatton Canyon freeway, which would alleviate much of the problem, was at least eight years away.

Girl Scout Day Camp Planned

The annual Girl Scout Day Camp will be held at Fort Ord August 22-25 and August 28-31 from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. daily.

"Outdoors" will be the theme for this year's camp. The Girl Scouts will be busy on nature hikes, building fires, cooking, and learning many other worthwhile crafts. There will be an overnight campout for the Juniors and Cadettes August 30.

On and off post girls are welcome to attend this camp. A fee of $10.50 is utilized to defray the costs of insurance, food, and supplies. Camp Ordarina can be a rewarding and challenging experience for non-scouters as well as registered girl scouts. You may pick-up registration forms for girls ages 7-17 at the Youth Activities Center Office at the Welcome Center, Ft. Ord, or contact Mrs. T. M. Mancini, Ft. Ord's neighborhood chairman.

YAFA Needs Funds For New Venture

The Young Adults For Action have been offered the opportunity to establish a light manufacturing firm in Seaside, according to Lee Toler.

An agreement has been reached with Western Electric Company in San Jose to manufacture metal bars to reinforce buildings against earthquakes.

However, in order to begin production, YAFA will need between $5,000 and $10,000, said Toler. The money would be used to rent a building and to meet the initial payroll. Machines needed to make the bars would be obtained from government surplus stores.

Steel for the bars would be supplied by Western Electric and they would buy the finished product.

Tolar says that the project will employ four people to start and a larger number later.

He pointed out that YAFA had been working on the project with Western Electric for 18 months and had received a $5,000 grant commitment from the Monterey County Antipoverty Coordinating Council before the program was closed down.

Mayor Joe Dolan said that he would do all he can to help the project, but that the city is not now in a position to provide financial aid.

Twins Sign Joyce, Monterey High Star

NEW TWIN - Former Monterey High School star Paul Joyce of Seaside recently signed contract with Minnesota Twins. He will report to their Orlando, Florida, farm club next spring.

Paul Joyce, son of Richad T. and Beatrice M. Joyce of Seaside, and athletic star at Monterey High School, has signed a free agent baseball contract with the Minnesota Twins.

The announcement was made by Lee Irvin, Pacific Northwest Scout for the Twins. Mr. Irvin said that the Seaside youngster would report to the Twins Orlando Club in the Florida State (Class A) League next spring.

Joyce had also received offers from the California Angels, Pittsburg Pirates, St. Louis Cardinals, New York Mets, Kansas City Royals and San Francisco Giants.

Joyce said he signed with the Twins because of the higher education program they offered him. He will be attending the University of Santa Clara this fall. No other terms of the contract was announced. Mr. Irvin said, "We gave him other considerations that met with his satisfaction."

Joyce had a great Northern California State Connie Mack League Tournament at Salinas two weeks ago.

Playing with the Salinas team for the tournament, he hit two long home runs in the large Salinas Municipal Ballpark and went six-for-eight for the tournament. He was also named to the all-tournament team.

Joyce said his first homer, a 375 foot drive over the left-center field fence, "inspired the scouts to talk to me."

Irvin said that the "Tournament was the real factor in signing him."

During the baseball season with Monterey High, Joyce his another tremendous homer, a long 410-foot drive at El Estero Park, which he said was the longest home run he ever hit.

Joyce was a three-year varsity letterman in both basketball and baseball at Monterey High. He was All-Monterey Bay League for two years in basketball and was the team's most valuable player as a junior.

Asked how he felt about signing with the Twins, Joyce responded, "I feel pretty good."

Final Budget Established

A final budget totaling nearly $18.9 million has been approved for 1972-73 by Monterey Peninsula Unified School District trustees.

The board took action on the budget at its last meeting.

As written, the document will require a tax rate increase of 7.7 cents, but Superintendent Allan J. Petersdorf told trustees that amount will probably be cut to about 2-1/2 cents after the current year's tax rate for bond redemption is established. A net 2-1/2 cent increase in the tax rate would bring the district's total rate to $5.736 for each $100 of assessed valutation.

In preliminary budget talks, it appeared that a tax increase of as much as 26 cents might be needed to finance the budget. But a higher-than-anticipated increase in assessed valuation, an increase in the state's school support formula and other factors placed the district in a better financial position.

Still, Petersdorf termed the relatively minor tax increase "significant" in the face of additional taxes the board had to levy to support programs mandated by the state legislature.

The budget maintains a $330,000 undistributed reserve, and also contains $448,000 available to augment salaries and fund improvements in the educational program. After adopting the final budget, the board also approved a Statement of Conditions fixing the way in which an additional new money received during the year will be distributed. The statement is built on $250,000 increments, each of which details percentages of new funds that will go toward salaries, reserves, program improvements and other expenses.

The available $448,000 would cover the cost of the first of the six conditions, but is not sufficient to cover the total cost of the second condition as well. In approving the conditions, the board directed administrators to meet with teacher representatives to determine how the $448,000 is to be used within the range of the first two conditions. The money could provide pay raises of over 2 per cent for all district employees, plus increasing district reserves and accounts for capital ooutlay and replacement of equipment.

Before adopting the Statement of Conditions, the board listened to a six-page statement of concerns read by Sam Alley, president of the Monterey Bay Teachers Association.

"I wish to express our increasing distress over the lack of understanding which is developing between the governing board and the teachers of this district," Alley began. He then reviewed concerns over board rejection and modification of teacher recommendations carried to trustees by board representatives, development of guidelines for implementing new evaluation procedures required by the state, and the board's handling of a new maternity leave policy.

Alley pointed to several instances where changes were made by the board without reasons given for the changes.

"We believe that lack of understanding stems from lack of effective communication and leads ultimately to polarization," he said.

A.E. Barragan

"Are you a writer full of self-admiration, keeping his head in the valley of a dusty past, where the ages discarded the remnant of its clothes and useless ideas?

"Or are you a clear thinker examining what is good and useful for society and spending your life in building what is useful and destroying what is harmful?

"If you are the first, then you are feeble and stupid, and if you are the second, then you are bread for the hungry and water for the thirsty."

Kahlil Gibran's Mirrors of the Soul asked that question. It prompted me to reevaluate a long column I had written earlier today. (Maybe I read too much). Nevertheless, I am going to discuss the greatest thing that happens to the Monterey Peninsula each year, and that is the Monterey County Fair. The Fair this year was undoubtedly the best County Fair in history. Not only did the many booths flourish, but the attendance exceeded any Fair held here in previous years.

Of course, some of it has to be credited to the news media. Some of it has to be credited to the wonderful weather we are enjoying. But most of it has to be credited to the various booths and displays that were admired by the public.

There was Julian Comancho shaking hands and introducing himself gleefully to each and every passerby. How he maintained that effervescent personality throughout the five days, is a secret he alone knows. But he was in there pitching:

ARMY RECRUITER

Hello everyone. This week's TODAY'S ARMY NEWS is directed to the young women.

If you are seeking education and jobs opportunities, the Women's Army Corps can be the place just for you. While serving in the Women's Army Corps you get EDUCATION, a CHALLENGING JOB, and a wonderful way of life. You can start your planning while you're still in high school- or before you enter. The Army will guarantee, in writing, to reserve a space for you in one of the many courses that are offered for selection prior to enlistment. Others are open only after you are in the service. Nowhere else is there such a wide range of job opportunities. You receive a good salary-the same as the men - right from the start. You can be sure of promotion. Your first one comes just four months after you enter the Women's Army Corps. You'll travel on the job to interesting places in the U.S., at first. After a year, you may request to live and work in Europe, or the Far East. You'll discover new horizons, new interests, and young friends to enjoy them with.

Just to inform you about one of the main fields women enlist for is the MEDICAL/DENTAL field. You can join one of the world's most outstanding medical teams, in the Army. No prior medical education or experience is necessary. Professional courses, in Army schools, offer you the opportunity to become a Medical or Dental Technician, with skills that can lead to a particularly interesting and rewarding career.

DENTAL SPECIALIST: A 6 week course which trains you to assist the dental officer in the examination, care and maintenance of dental equipment.

MEDICAL SPECIALIST: An eight-week course which prepares you to assist doctors and nurses in many phases of the care and treatment of patients.

MEDICAL LABORATORY: A 14-week course of intensive training in the basic techniques and principles of the clinical medical laboratory.

PSYCHIATRIC PROCEDURES: A challengong 12-week course qualifying you to assist in the care and treatment of neuropsychiatric patients.

OPERATING ROOM PROCEDURES: An excellect 12-week course training you to prepare patients for surgical treatment and to assist in the operating suite and in the centralized material section of Army hospitals.

Vietnam Vets Use G.I. Bill Most

New insights into veterans' use of G.I. Bill education benefits are revealed in a comparison of World War II, Korean Conflict and Vietnam Era participation rates at the six year point in all three programs.

The Vietnam Era program was six years old in June 1972.

When only those who enrolled in school are considered, Vietnam Era veterans are now ahead of both the World War II and Korean Conflict groups in participation.

Vietnam Era veterans, though they were already the best educated group of servicemen in history, are going to school at the rate of 36.9 percent compared to 34.1 percent for Korean Conflict veterans and 32.7 percent for World War II. They are going to college at the rate of 21.9 percent compared to 20.1 percent for the Korean Conflict veterans and 13.8 percent for World War II.

When all forms of training are considered, Vietnam Era veterans are participating at a higher rate than Koren Conflict veterans, the study reveals, but they are still behind World War II veterans.

The overall participation rates are: Vietnam, 40.6 percent; Korean Conflict, 39.8 and World War II, 45.3 percent.

HONORED - Rueben Rose of Seaside receives Department of Army official commendation from Colonel Arvid P. Croonquist, Deputy Chief of Staff for Administration and Logistics at Army Combat Developments Experimentation Command on Fort Ord, for his outstanding performance of duty while serving as military Personnel Clerk in Enlisted Records Section, Military Personnel Branch of Administration Division. Rose now lives in Seaside with his wife, Luise Maria and small son, Rueben Junior and daughter, Luise Florence.

Tips For Veterans

The Veterans Administration reminds college bound veterans that they should contact the VA as soon as possible to avoid unnecessary delay in their monthly education allowance checks.

J.E. Muleen, Director of the San Francisco VA Regional Office, offered these additional tips for veterans looking forward to getting started in college.

"The first thing a veteran should do," Mullen explained, "is to decide on an educational objective. He should then choose a school and apply for admission as soon as possible.

"The veteran then should request a certificate of eligibility from the nearest VA office. The VA willsend two copies of the certificate, which must be submitted to the school. The school will endorose one copy and forward it to the VA regional office," he said.

Mullen strongly suggested that the veteran check back with the school to make certain the certificate has been forwarded. This is to help insure that the veteran starts receiving monthly education allowance checks promptly.

Veterans returning to the same school need not get another certificate. Those who plan to change schools or educational objectives within the same school, however, mustget a new certificate from the VA.

To be eligible for educational benefits, a veteran or serviceman must have served at least 181 days of continuous active duty, any part of it after January 31, 1955, or have been separated from service because of a service-connected disability.

Veterans were urged to contact their nearest VA office or their local veterans service organization representatives if further information on education benefits is desired.

CDEC Using WACs More

The US Army Combat Development Experimentation Command at Fort Ord is in the provess of developing a new "tactic" that should be quite an effective aid to their mission--their administrative mission, that is.

The popular new "tactic" involves the assigning of a number of Women's Army Corps personnel to CDEC to perform a variety of administrative duties. The CDEC "Unit of Choice" recruiters are currently looking for 40 WACs to work in various administrative positions within the command and they hope to expand this number to 101 within the next year.

The WACs will be working in eight different challenging military occupational skills: administrative specialist, personnel specialist, card and tape writers, information specialist, clerk typist, supply clerk, unit supply specialist and intelligence analyst.

The WACs choosing CDEC under the Unit of Choice program will be guaranteed 16 months of futy in CDEC at Fort Ord after they have completed Basic and Advanced Individual Training.

The CDEC recruiters, as well as CDEC soldiers, are hoping that Fort Ord's proximity to San Francisco and the vacation-like atmosphere of the Monterey Peninsula where Fort Ord and CDEC is located, will be motivation factors enticing girls to select the CDEC enlistment program.

The area around Fort Ord offers practically everything an adventuresome girl could ask for. If it's sandy beaches she likes, she has her choice of practically any type from the secluded areas of Big Sur to the Riviera-like Santa Cruz beach. If she goes for quaint European towns, Carmel-by-the-Sea is difficult to distinguish from the real thing. Historic Cannery Row in Monterey is only one of many interesting sights if she just enjoys sightseeing.

Whatever she likes, she should be able to find it during her tour with CDEC and early reports of enlistees under the program indicate that quite a few girls are going to be taking advantage of the opportunity.

"My name is Julian Camancho, and I'm a candidate for Congress....". Shaking hands and passing out leaflets. His booth was always crowded with volunteer workers and dedicated people.

Supervisor Loren E. Smith was there giving his boost to the 4-H Club. He has a long history of envolvement with the Club. Mr. Smith is the type of person that when he dedicates himself to anything he pursues it to the end.

There was Mr. Greene of Kramer Bros. Jewelers giving his grandson a treat to remember, by letting him choose his own rides, then joyfully purchasing the tickets.

One interesting booth (there were many) was the booth marked: "Holiday Magic - Inc.," with a sub-title: "T.L.C. (Tender Loving Care)." These young people were taking orders for facial creams produced from minerals of the soil. Guaranteed to make you look younger.

I could go on and on mentioning the many booths and concessions at the fair, but I shall only mention a few due to space. Gateway Center, the School for Retarded Children, made the best coffee. It was refreshing to see how the people visiting the fair supported this most worthy institution. Their donation jars had a health glow also.

Now at every fair there is something that just does not make sense. And this particular concession was No. One. They were demonstrating wet mops. The product was good. The price was a bit out of season, but for those who refuse to get their hands wet, maybe it was worth it. But can you at anytime picture yourself mopping your kitchen or bathroom or any other room in your house in hot pants? It was hard to determine if you wanted a mop or beautiful legs. After an inquiry I discovered the mop was for sale (only).

For the taste that delights, it was hard to pass the stand where, for 60¢, you could get a small bag of sugar coated roasted almonds. It did not matter that it only lasted five minutes, it was the taste you were buying. But you had to really keep that in mind.

My nephew, Art and his wife, Miriam and daughter, Karen, just happened to arrive on the peninsula Saturday evening, so Sunday they attended the Fair with me. For you parents with children and you adults who love children as much as I do, you can appreciate the thrill one gets in seeing a child enjoy herself. There was this little mechanized 3-wheel tricycle; a quarter activates the motor and the child drives this little thing in a circle. (Well, they are suppose to go in a circle). Anyway, little Karen could get pretty upset when someone else blocked her path. She enjoyed the airplane ride and the boats, and several other things. In short, she had a memorable experience.

Prior to the Fair, we had visited Dennis The Menace Park. Karen almost out-did herself there, but she saved a little energy for the Fair. (I am sure she was glad she did).

The adult exhibits were the greatest also: The flower display; The garden layout; The agricultural section. They were all very interesting. Also, KMST-TV gave a preview of the coming attractions for the next season. I just do not see how I can get any evening work accomplished with such a selection of new shows for 1972-73.

Well, while all the good news is being passed out, let's continue: My boss Andy goes under the knife next Wednesday (a week from today) and they have promised to make him a new man. So we are all very happy about that. I thought they were going to continue to postpone this thing indefinately, and I was beginning to get a bit angry. But prayers and candles and just plain faith made them make their decision. It has raised our morale 200 percent. Starting today I have a week of meditation. I shall not sleep, shave, or bathe until I see Andy's wonderful smile as he faces the world a new man.

We all know that the Lord is a merciful God. So collectively we are asking His mercy in this task. We also know the impact of Faith. We have been talking about that for some time now. We wouldn't dare get to the gate and not turn the key. Would we? And the key is prayer.

Job Openings

The San Francisco Area Office of the U.S. Civil Service Commission is accepting applications for Federal employment for Secretarial Positions. The grade levels and salaries for these jobs are GS-5, $7,319 per year, GS-6, $8,153 per year, GS-7 $9,053 per year and GS-8, $10,013 per year. Most of these jobs will be filled in Federal agencies located in the San Francisco Bay Area. Some positions may be filled in the surrounding counties and at Camp Roberts (located in Monterey and San Luis Obispo Counties).

Written tests are required for grades GS-5, GS-6 and GS-7. A written test is not required for grade GS-8.

For information about test locations, application forms and other requirements, applicants should contact either the Federal Job Information Office at 450 Golden Gate Aveune, San Francisco, Telephone (415) 556-6667 or the Oakland Federal Job Information and Testing Center located in Room 215, Civic Center Station, 201-13th Street, Oakland, Telephone (415) 273-7211, or any main Post Office.

Your Supervisor Reports

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES HAVE BECOME AN IMPORTANT ISSUE THROUGHOUT OUR STATE AND THE ENTIRE NATION. The Monterey Peninsula is no exception to the rest of the area.

A few days ago, the Bay Rapid Bus Transit Company notified all of the Cities on the Monterey Peninsula whom they serve that their transportation business had become so unprofitable that they would have to suspend bus service to the area after September 1, 1972, unless some financial assistance could be provided. The local bus service is considered essential to the well-being of all the people living in the area and especially to the youth and the elderly who may not have other means of transportation.

Representatives of the local City and County Governments have been considering various methods of funding the bus operation on a short term basis for a few months while other long term solutions can be considered. Several months ago when the State Legislature passed a bill known as Senate Bill #325 which provided for gasoline tax monies to be used for assisting Public Transportation I called all of the Mayors of our Monterey County Cities together to discuss the formation of a local Transit District for our County to qualify us to participate in the funding made available under Senate Bill #325. All of the Cities were in favor of forming such a district. With this consensus of opinion the Board of Supervisors initiated steps to form a Monterey County Transit District. Assemblymen Bob Wood and Senator Grunsky drew up proposed legislation known as Assembly Bill #629 to accomplish this purpose. Unfortunately as the Bill went thru the necessary Committee hearings in Sacramento some of the amendments that were added by these Committees were entirely unacceptable to our Monterey County Councils Office and to County Administration. The Board of Supervisors I felt had no choice but to advise our Senator and Assemblyman that we could not accept the Bill as proposed and they have agreed to submit a new bill as soon as the State Legislature reconvenes in November.

Our bus problem has been known to our County and City Officials for several months and we have all been working cooperatively to find solutions. The management of the Bay Rapid Transit Bus Company has been working closely with City and County Officials, however, in view of this latest delay the Bus Company feels that they can no longer operate at a loss and has asked for assistance.

It appears at this time that the Cities are generally willing to cooperate and as one County Supervisor it is my concern to urge the Board of Supervisors to also assist in solving this emergency problem so that our bus service may CONTINNUE UNINTERRUPTED. Next week I will again be meeting with City and Bus Company representatives and will keep you posted on future developments.

Letter to the Editor

Editor: We have read Joe Dolan's column "Mayor Dolan Reports" of 2 August 1972. In his column, Dolan deals with such gross misrepresentation and untruth that we initially considered the column unworthy of reply. But Joe Dolan is in a responsible elected position, and although he has spoken irresponsibly, a good many people still have faith in representatives of Dolan's ilk, and may actually believe his allegations. For these people we reply.

After giving sketchy details of his military service, Dolan inferred that VVAW members are not Vietnam-era veterans at all. The fact is that all fifty members of the Monterey chapter are Vietnam-era veterans, thirty-two saw action in Southeast Asia. We also have two associate members who are not veterans, but work with us. We are a national organization with very simple membership requirements: Vietnam-era veterans who are against the war in Southeast Asia. Even Joe Dolan could be a member; he is against the war, isn't he?

Mr. Dolan further alleges that VVAW, "the insidious cancer" as he puts it, is financed "by Cuba's Castro" and questions our true motive. Let us lay these innuendo to rest. VVAW's true motive is to see a complete end to the war in Southeast Asia, to U.S. involvement there, and an end to the intense human suffering, the irreparable environmental damage, and the severe social harm brought on by war. To further these aims, we are financed a little by many individuals with like goals, and a lot by our own hard work. Yes, Mr. Doaln, we do know the full meaning of the term, and our members work very hard in their cause.

Mr. Dolan claims to have received complaints "pertaining to the illegal, abusive, and very offensive behavior" of VVAW members. Here Dolan is bandying words about, putting his own interpretation to them. Our behavior is offensive to persons of Dolan's political persuasion, illegal only because we are refused proper permits or because protests against military installations are deemed illegal, and abusive only because what we are opposing is considered sacred by our political opposition, instatements, both private and official, border on libel and slander (illegal?) "abusive," and "very offensive" to VVAW and its members, many of whom are Seaside residents. And are these petty squabbles to be compared with the illegal "war" our country is waging (without our consent) in Southeast Asia ????? That war is exceedingly abusive and our national behavior is very offensive to Vietnamese citizens.

Mr. Dolan infers that the Presidio march which we staged in May was an uncontrolled riot with widespread "acts of violence" and "destruction of private property." We hasten to point out that we procured legal permits for that action, and handled ourselves in an orderly manner. Several law enforcement agencies were constantly watching us, and yet Mr. Dolan himself points out that no arrests were made. It seems unlikely that these agencies would overlook any destruction or act of violence.

Why not, Mr. Dolan, refer to VVAW activities such as our recent Fourth of July picnic where several hundred of our members and their supporters enjoyed a peaceful sunny afternoon protesting the war? There were speeches, singing, and dancing; and people, young and old, related in true brother and sisterhood, and all were without what you would call an "incident." Again, all were handled with legal permits in an orderly fashion.

Mr. Dolan is opposed to our "entry to Seaside," to which our natural reply is that we are already here. Several of our members reside in Seaside, and more Seaside residents are joining us. Moreover, we were not aware that Seaside was a closed area, unavailable to entry. Or does Mr. Dolan simply mean he doesn't want the VVAW walking the streets of Seaside? Is not this Joe Dolan who so adamantly opposes our "entry to Seaside," the same Joe Dolan who claimed a personal right to freedom of movement? Surely we all have the same rights, don't we ????

On 5 and 6 September, VVAW and supporters will engage in a demonstration to support Billy Dean Smith. His situation is clear and residents of Seaside are already familiar with the case. These facts and our position have been recorded elsewhere, and it is not our purpose to make a policy statement herein. However, it is an outgrowith of that policy that we are being denied our right of lawful peotest against what we consider a great injustice. These rights must not be tampered with. If VVAW has the "gall," as Mr. Dolan calls it, to ask for legal permits to rally, we feel a right to fair and impartial hearing of our request, not the prejudiced and alarmist ranting we have received from Joe Dolan.

If Mr. Dolan wishes to become a new Paul Revere and "awaken" the Monterey Peninsula to the menace he feels we are, let him so so in a way more congruent with his professed American ideals, and not with innuendo, slander, and denial of our rights as he is now doing. Do not force us to become political outlaws.

Sincerely,
VVAW, Monterey Chapter

Editor: In my opinion the parade rules recently adopted by the Seaside City Council are merely a cloak to conceal the fact that any group with opposing views may find large obstacles placed in its path when it applies for a permit.

The council is willing to close its mind to the fact that in 1931 the United States Supreme Court held that the right to protest and demonstrate are within the purview of the First Amendment. Breach of peace or disorderly conduct can't be used as an excuse to deny citizens of their basic rights.

The council can make reasonable regulations but it can't use its power for any purpose except to reduce the public inconvenience which any demonstration involves. Demonstrations can be regulated to avoid traffic problems and to provide access to vital areas for other people. We as citizens must accept inconveniences due to demonstrations because demonstrations are a part of any democracy which relies upon opposing views or forces to survive.

It is inconceivable to me that an organization such as the Vietnam Veterans Against the War, whose membership is comprised of many yOng men who fought in Vietnam to preserve freedom there, would be denied these rights in Seaside.

Let us all remember that the liberty of our nation is threatened when even one of us is denied his freedom.

Editor: The Harambe Medical Clinic, Seaside, would like to express its deep appreciation for the wonderful coverage that you provided us with in our Benefit Fund Drive and our Seaside Community Fun Day. Without your dire needed assistance, we would have gone un-noticed. The many hours that your staff spent with us, served to provide us with that extra little push that was needed.

Because your hearts were open, our doors can now remain open to serve those in need within the community.

Sincerly yours,

Editor: How civilized are we? Do we realize that an essestial of living together in human society is "law and order?" Even though our society may have many flaws which must be in time overcome?

How often have we read that some murderer, thug, thief when caught gets considerable support from some organizations? Whatever the evidence, if the accused happens to be of the same race or foreign national descent as the members of these groups, they go all out to raise funds in his behalf.

They shout to a cynical world that the vicious hooligan up for trial is "innocent!" They picture him or her as a "hero!" They denounce the police who courageously apprehended the savage law violator as "pigs!" They dream up a story - with the help of publicity-and-money-crazy attorneys - that the public and government is out to "frame" the culprit!

As a matter of act, all CITIZENS of our nation are Americans, not of some other land's nationality. Just as CITIZENS of Germany, Mexico, Ireland, etc. are Germans, Mexicans, Irish, etc. The best traditions and history of the U.S.A. should be the pride and joy of all citizens here. Are we not a huge melting pot of all races and former nationalities?

Our English tongue should be primarily spoken, just as people of other countries speak primarily their language. Those who are rather recent arrivals ought to go to school nights or days and master a working knowledge of English, then use it most of the time.

Surely there are enough law-abiding, good, constructive, even examplary folks in various organizations to take pride in. Why uphond rascals who commit crimes, and show them off to our nation as if they were the best among a group instead of terribly rotten apples?

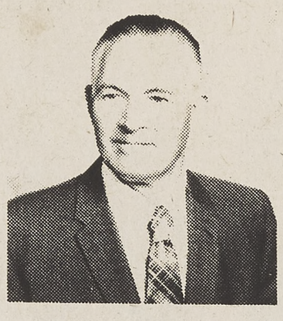
Why should any club be taken in by some cunning lawyer to back up one who disgraces the human race? Why not support instead the law? Why not sympathize and help the vistim or a crime or the family of one raped, tortured, beaten, stabbed, shot to death? Yes, why not safeguard all our lives?

Why not be good Americans?

Sincerely yours,
George Herman,
Marina

As I See It

BY MEL VERCOE



So now we know. We spent our two years on a battleship about thirty years too soon. The latest news - designed perhaps to encourage enlistments in the U.S. Navy - is that if the equal rights amendment passes, and it surely will in an election year, then women will have the right to serve on board Navy ships.

In the old days women on board such vessels were few and far between. The only ones I personally saw were some nurses on a hospital ship. On another ship, a battleship as I recall, some sailors had smuggled a woman aboard and she spent three days (probably the most memorable three days of her life) about three decks below daylight in a paint compartment before somebody somehow ruined the whole deal and she had to spend the rest of the voyage in the comparative luxury of an officer's stateroom under guard.

There is little likelihood that women will actually take part in combat, at least not with the enemy, although Admiral Zumwalt, who seems to be spearheading the modernization of the Navy, hints that they may even be employed in aviation. Here again, maybe the Navy needs more recruits requesting aviation assignments, and, from personal experience after falling for a Marine Corps poster showing a Marine with a girl in a hula skirt on each side of him, I must say their recruiting tactics have not changed. Imagine the thrill of having a beautiful girl for a bombardier while blowing a couple of orphanages to smithereens.

As for prospective women recruits, they know from watching TV commercials that good things happen when one is in the right place at the right time, like drinking the right brand of beer with a boy on an expensive yacht or smoking the right brand of cigarette with a boy, even on a cheap horse. So, they can picture themselves wearing a sailor suit with hot pants out at sea on a ship being protected from the big bad waves (real waves) by a handsome young officer who is about to be promoted.

And Admiral Zumwalt will get much of the credit for all that equality, while I, who have been arguing for more equality for years, won't even be mentioned, and the reason is fairly simple. The good admiral offers the advantages without the disadvantages, whereas I claim that women have every right to demand to be sent to places like Indochina so they can have their legs and arms blown off in equal numbers with us chauvinist males.

But that, fear not, will never happen. War would suddenly become very unexciting and very brutal and much too uncivilized for our civilized society to employ as a way of alife and as a necessary and continuous economy sustainer. Some citizens might even decide that war was unChristian if the female casualties exceeded socially acceptable numbers.

SCHOOL DISTRICT COMMUNICATIONS

Actions don't necessarily speak louder than words!

The Monterey Peninsula Unified School District current adopted budget is in the millions of dollars for salaries, and a multitude of necessities requiring capital outlays.

Recent MPUSD actions that affect Seaside Schools.

1. By written communication the MPUSD advised the City of Seaside that sidewalks were not needed or required at Covell School. The expenditure of $7,000 for this purpose was not warranted - according to MPUSD.

2. Monterey Peninsula Unified School District will be receiving sealed bids on or about September 5, 1972 for "Surplus Peoperty" which includes 1 1/2 acres of Del Rey Woods Elementary School Playground area.

An interesting question is now posed. Of the MPUSD approved budget, how much capital expenditure is planned for Seaside Schools? Is it in the best interest of Seaside's children to dispose of irreplaceable open space ("Surplus Property") to enable MPUSD to build an Instructional Materials Building? Why should Seaside Taxpayers have to pay another $22,800 for this purpose?

On July 26, 1972 I asked why Seaside High School did not publish an Honor Roll and also inquired as to whether or not we had "Honor Students" who should be appropriately recognized. The following is a letter dated July 28 from Seaside High School Principal.

Dear Mr. Dolan:

It was with considerable interest that I reviewed your column in the July 26 issue of the Seaside Post News-Sentinel. You raised several points related to Seaside High School that seem to me to require amplification.

to my knowledge the R.O.T.C. question has never been raised formally with the district or school administration. At this point I velieve the only overt expression of interest has been that of the citizens who attended the presentation at the Chamber of Commerce on May 16. Though you were not there I'm sure you are aware of the fact that both pro and anti points of view were held by various people in the audience.

Another portion of your remarks alluded to the fact that Seaside High School did not publish an honor roll for the 1971-72 school year. It is true that we did not. I would be happy to explain to you the factors that prevented us from doing so if you are interested. However, I resent your assertion that "....we had no 'Honor Students' at Seaside High School." You must be aware that our students are as talented as any, that their ability to relate successfully to their environment is most commendable. I regard your charge against their reputation as ill-advised.

Mr. Dolan, you are fortunate in having a platform from which to speak as an elected public official. However, your office also carries with it the awesome responsibility of having all the facts before speaking. If you are truly interested in the schools permit me to suggest that you check your impressions with school people so that you have a broader base on which to form an opinion.

The last thing the adults and youngsters of this community need is to have their schools become a political football. Such a tactic would only be divisive and self defeating for our citizens.

Sincerely yours,
James R. Solbery
Principal

My comments:

I repeat that the MPUSD is denying Seaside High School Students their right to participate in Jr. ROTC therein.

And I have no intentions of making our schools a political football. Rather I want our children to receive the best possible-in facilities-and education.

Bob Wood Reports

Will the death penalty remain on the November 7th ballot?

Our office is being asked this question more and more by some of you people at home. In the first place the Secretary of State said the State constitution provides that as long as a measure qualified for the ballot it should remain for the vote of the people. However, several weeks ago the American Civil Liberties Union Foundation asked the State Supreme Court to remove the initiative designed to restore the death penalty in California. The writ of mandate suit by the ACLU contended that voting on the measure would be a "wasteful expenditure of public monies because the U.S. Supreme Court already has ruled its unconstitutionality."

On the other hand, the Governor contends the U.S. Court overstepped its authority and therefore he vigorously supports the initiative effort. On one side are those who believe that to preserve a civilized society, man needs a framework of law holding each person accountable for his deeds.

On the other hand are those who believe in a more permissive society-they would retreat from the concept of individual responsibility.

The court said the death penalty was cruel because there have been long delays between the time of sentencing and the time the sentence is carried out. But let's be frank with ourselves. Did society authorize this moratorium? The courts stayed the sentences, quire often on technicalities that are difficult to accept as reason enough for a criminal to escape paying the penalty for his crimes.

Personally, I feel that the people - the voters of California - you people, should be permitted to express yourself at the ballot box in November on this vital issue. I strongly hope that the State Supreme Court will not deny the voters this right, despite the U.S. Supreme Court's decision against the death penalty.

Questions and Answers

Q -- As a veteran's widow eligible for VA educational assistance, may I receive this benefit if I attend school in Germany?

A -- No. Courses may be in a foreign school only when they are part of an approved enrollment in an institution of higher learning in the United States.

Q -- I am the widow of a World War II veteran who died in 1969. Shortly after his death I applied for a widow's pension, but was denied because we had been married only three years. May I now reapply?

A -- Yes. Under current law, a widow who had been married to a veteran at least one year before his death (formerly five years) is eligible for pension.

Q -- Do veterans using the current GI Bill receive more money than veterans under previous GI Bills?

A -- Yes. Measuring payments in constant dollars, the current GI Bill is slightly more liberal. Proposed legislation during the 92nd Congress to increase benefits would give today's veterans an even greater advantage.

Q -- Is it too late for a veteran over 65 years of age to apply for a waiver of government insurance premiums?

A -- No. If a veteran becomes totally disabled before his 65th birthday, and meets other requirements, he is entitled to the waiver even though he does not apply for it until he is over 65.

Q -- If a veteran's widow who draws death pension benefits is a patient in a nursing home and is in need of regular aid and attendance, is she eligible for additional pension?

A -- Yes, she is entitled to an additional special monthly pension of $55 under the current law. Widows requiring regular aid and attendance are entitled to an additional $50 monthly pension under the "old" law.

Q -- As the widow of a veteran who died 14 months ago, can I collect a Veterans Administration burial allowance?

A -- Yes, provided your husband was a wartime, Korean Conflict or Vietnam veteran with an other than dishonorable discharge; or if he was drawing service-connected compensation at time of death or discharge; or retired for disability incurrec in line of duty. Application for a maximum $250 burial allowance may be filed within two years of burial or cremation.

Q -- Is it true that pensioners over 72 years old no longer have to file annual income questionnaires with VA?

A -- Yes. A recent law exempts 72-year-old and older pensioners and dependent parents drawing dependency and indemnity compensation during two consecutive years from filing these questionnaires. However, they still must report changes in income.

Q -- I am a 66-year-old veteran with a $10,000 National Service Life Insurance five year level premium term policy. I suffered a disability after I reached 65 which kept me from working for six months. Am I eligible for a waiver of premiums on my insurance?

A -- No. Your disability must have been incurred before your 65th birthday to qualify for the waiver.

Senator Cranston's Speech Attacked Manipulation

Following is a partial text of remarks by Senator Alan Cranston as a floor leader in the recent successful effort to limit funds for the Vietnam war to the protection of U.S. troops and their total withdrawal within four months, contingent only on the return of prisoners of war and an accounting of men missing in action:

The Administration uses the threats of war and peace to manipulate the Congress to do its bidding.

Each time the Congress considers the defense budget, we are barraged with threats of war which reported buildups in Soviet arms are said to constitute. A new missile buildup or a missile advance is consistently and miraculously uncovered at just the right moment--when the Congress is debating whether or not to approve the higher and higher military outlays that the Pentagon demands.

The Administration follows the same transparent manipulative technique on the matter of peace.

Each time Congress considers steps to bring about, finally and at long last, an end to the endless horrors of Vietnam, we are threatened with peace.

Be Quiet! Congress is stold. Peace is about to break out at any moment.

Be Quiet! Congress is told. You may upset delicate negotiations.

Be Quiet! Congress is told. You are undercutting our bargaining position.

I say ENOUGH. CONGRESS WILL NOT BE QUIET. I WILL NOT BE QUIET.

We have been lead and deluded with promises of INSTANT PEACE for more than 3-1/2 years. And where is it? Where is the peace that President Nixon promised us 3-1/2 years ago? Where are the 20,000 Americans who were killed in Vietnam while we were waiting for President Nixon to deliver us the peace he promised? Where are the billions of dollars we have continued to waste on this war while waiting for the peace that President Nixon promised us 3-1/2 years ago?

I say the Congress must stop being the manifulat-EE and start being the manipulat-OR. Congress must take this war into its own hands--and end it.

President Nixons' peace overtures to China and the Soviet Union and the spirit of the SALT arms limitation agreement are being undermined by his requests for more war expenditures in Vietnam.

The President is guilty of great inconsistency in demanding more funds for offensive weapons in Vietnam while attempting to seek peace with China and the Soviety Union.

The Nixon Administration has failed till now in its effort to negotiate an end to the Vietnam War. Now the Administration is not only undercutting its own peace efforts with an over-inflated military budget, but it is attempting to stifle Congressional efforts to end the war as well.

The days of a $100 billion annual defense budget are not too far away if we don't change course.

The first "course change" is to end the mindless waste of men and money in Southeast Asia.

The Vietnam War has already cost the American taxpayer $150 billion and it will cost a trillion dollars--$1,000,000,000,000--by the time all the bills are paid by our children and grandchildren.

President Nixon has made praiseworthy peace trips to Moscow and to Peking and has negotiated an important first step toward arms control in the SALT agreement. But how does he reconcile these steps--how are the American people expected to reconcile these steps --with the Administration's constant demand for more money for more arms and for more war?

The Administration is asking for an extra $5 billion from the American taxpayer to pay the cost of trying to bomb the Vietnamese into oblivion. At the same time, the President keeps talking about winding down the war.

The Administration is confronting the Congress and the people with a basic contradiction that doesn't make sense, either militarily or fiscally. The Administration talks about peace but spends for war. It's time the Administration puts our money where its mouth is.

The Vietnam War has been both a contributing cause and a symptom of the steadily spiraling defense budget which is heading toward a mind-shattering $100 billion. The proposed military budget for fiscal 1973 ranges between $81 and $85 billion, depending on who's doing the counting.

This is an outrageously unnecessary escalation over 1972, when the budget was around $77.6 billion and less than that--about $75 billion--was actually appropriated. The Pentagon won't tell us exactly how much the Vietnam War continues to cost us but at one time it ran as high as $28 billion a year. Some people estimate the cost of the war during fiscal 1972 at around $9 or $10 billion. That was prior to the President's decision to step up the bombing to unprecedented leves.

GUTEN APPETITE
GERDA OF MECCA DELICATESSEN

Here is a new and different dish to hold your family's interest in meals, a veal shoulder roast to serve with a well-seasoned stuffing made with bread and nuts.

6 pounds veal should;
2 teaspoons salt;
1/2 teaspoon pepper;
1/4 cup chopped onion;
1/4 cup butter;
2 cups dry, yeast-raised bread crumbs;
1 cup chopped pecans;
2 tablespoons minced parsley;
1 egg, beaten;
1/4 teaspoon thyme;
1/4 teaspoon celery salt;

Have butcher bone veal shoulder. Wipe with damp cloth and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Saute onion in butter. Add bread, pecans, parsley, egg, thyme and celery salt. Spread stuffing on meat. Roll jellyroll fashion. Tie securely with a string. Place on a rack in roasting pan. Bake at 325 F. about 3-1/2 hours. Makes eight to 10 servings.

TEXAS CASSEROLE BEEF

Serve this chili variation with rice (the instant kind is fast and sure), crisp radishes and carrot sticks. For dessert, frozen strawberries with orange juice.

2 lbs. beef round;
4 tbls. butter;
5 strips bacon;
1 onion, sliced;
1 can kidney beans;
2 garlic cloves, chopped;
1 cup tomato sauce;
2 tbls. chili powder;
1 teas. salt;
1 teas. pepper;

Dredge the thinly sliced beef in flour seasoned with salt in butter and remove to a casserole which has a layer of bacon in the bottom. Add the onion, garlic, tomato sauce, chili powder, salt and pepper. Cover with kidney beans and ot with a little butter. Cover and bake at 350 degree F. for one hour, or until beef is tender.

Drugs And Alcohol Discussed

Three members of the Seaside High School student council held a round-table meeting with the Fort Ord Youth Activities director, a child psychiatrist, a juvenile investigator and a drug rehabilitation authority recently at the Ft. Ord Youth Center.

The topic of the get-together was the use and abuse of drugs and alcohol by students at Seaside High School, a school attended by a great number of Ft. Ord dependents.

The three members of the student council, Gail Burdick, Melvin Fortes and Steve McCoole, all entering the senior class this fall, explained to the adult advisors just exactly what type of educational programs were being presented to the student body concerning the effects of alcohol and drugs. The seniors spoke freely and seemed to give the impression that the school authorities were not reaching either the students or their parents.

Major Michael Lebowitz, a child psychiatrist at the Silas B. Hays Army Hospital here, said in his opinion, "Booze is the number one health problem." The group readily agreed tha much more was needed than pamphlets and pictures to properly present the troubles mentally and physically caused by misuse of alcohold. "Possibly we should speak to some people who have been, or are addicted to alcohol or drugs."

Joining in the discussion, Steve McCoole stated that in his opinion whiskey does not lead to the use of drugs. The young man said, "From what I've seen everybody I know hooked on drugs started for a reason of his own, usually a personal reason." The panel agreed that it was these personal reasons which should be corrected and that it was in this area that the potential drug user could be led in a healthier situation. No one was quite sure just how this could be done, but everyone thought it should be.

Mrs. Pat Aversano, Ft. Ord's Youth Activity director and a firm believer in keeping the young people interested and busy, said, "I realize when cliques or groups get together they do not all 'dig' the same things." For this reason she said, "We all must work that much harder to make the more wholesome things available to all groups."

Joe Garvin, a juvenile investigator at Ft. Ord, agreed with the majority that a great deal more education is needed. He said, "If this happens, it sure will make my work easier."

The other authority, James Nuxoll, an assistant supervisor of drug rehabilitation at the Halfway House in Pacific Grove, thought that some of the explaining and education was good and that some of it was wasted because it was given too late.

All agreed as they adjourned to meet again that the young men and women would better understand the drug and alcohol problems if they were presented by members of their own age group.

Designer Wins Two Awards

Evan G. Cowley, Monterey building designer, recently returned from the American Institute of Building Design's Convention in San Francisco, bringing with him two awards for his entires in the Institute's annual national design competition.

Mr. Cowley received Honorable Mention awards for his entries in the Residential - Builder's Model category. One award was for a home for Mr. Stanley, A. Sells, Marina contractor, in the Del Monte Heights Redevelopment Area in Seaside, California. The other award was for a home by Mr. Albert J. Harrison, Pacific Grove contractor, in the Pacific Grove Beach area, Pacific Grove, California.

Mr. Cowley is a member of the Monterey Bay Chapter of the American Institute of Building Design.

Alcohol Is Topic Of MPC Institute

Alcohol and health will be the topic of our two-hour sessions of Health 904, a special institute offered by Monterey Peninsula College in cooperation with the Monterey Peninsula Council on Alcoholism.

The class is taught by Mary C. Ross in the Council's office, located on the grounds of the Carmel Convalescent Hospital just off Highway One near Valley Way Lectures are held from 8-10 p.m. on the first four Tuesdays of each month. A fee of $5 for the series of four lectures will be charged.

The institute is of value to nurses, teachers, social service workers or others interested in alcohol studies. The lectures are also recommended for alcoholics, their families and friends, according to Mrs. Ross.

The first lecture is entitled "We Drink," and is an overview of alcohol in society. Uses of alcohol in primitive societies, as well as modern drinking attitudes and expectations are covered. The drinking driver is also discussed in the first lecture session.

Alcoholism is the focus of the second lecture. Subtopics include: alcohol as a drug, genesis of alcoholism, stages in the progression of alcoholism, types of alcoholism, early warning signs, local alcoholism services and the RAP scale.

In the third session, Mrs. Ross will stress the problems of alcohol and family life. Teaching children about alcohol and various family-oriented alcoholic programs will be included in the lecture.

The final session is devoted to preventive therapy for alcoholism, including utilization of pastoral help, group therapy, diet therapy and reality therapy.

Pre-registration for the series is not required. More information may be obtained by calling the Monterey Peninsula Council on Alcoholism at 624-2256.

Mem O. Randum

by JACK SPARKS

Mem O. Randum was born in the state of Confusion many years ago.

Mem was a healthy child with an overactive curiosity. He was always asking questions: 'why did it,' 'what happend,' 'where did it occur,' 'when did it take place.' These questions when answered got him the facts, and Mem became a reporter of facts.

But after some time Mem began asking another question, and that is 'why.' He then began to discover that events are caused and that if he could change the causes of events, the events also changed. He made up a saying which is used by grownups to this day: 'An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.' He discovered that if he planned for events, things worked out well for him, for the most part. Of course he could not govern the acaions of other people, but he was able to convince some people that they should also get the facts for themselves, and ask 'why' for themselves; and bit by bit the people solved their problems and taught their children how to solve their problems.

But some of the facts were embaressing to some of the people in power and they began to harass Mem and his friends and to make up stories about them which were untrue. Many of the people who would otherwise have learned from Mem and his friends would not listen to them because of a blind trust of those in power.

But Mem and his friends did not give up--they understood why people who have ears nevertheless refuse to hear. And Mem and his friends made firm resolve to be always finding and publishing the facts, and to be always asking 'why.'

Mem and his friends were driven from their native state and to a place where they could be free to ask 'why.' They caused a constitution to be formed in their new state and insisted that everyone be guaranteed the right to free speech, and to publish facts in a free press.

Mem O. Randum ruges: prevent a return to the land of Confusion. Support in every way possible the first amendment to the constitution: 'Congress shall make no law abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press.'

Bicycle Accidents Increase

The number of California bicyclists killed or injured in traffic accidents continued to climb during the first three months of 1972.

An analysis just completed by the California Highway Patrol revealed a total of 20 fatalities and 2,259 injuries during the corresponding ring that period as opposed to 11 killed and 1,369 injured during the corresponding quarter of 1971.

This represents a 67 percent increase.

"If this trend which began three years ago continues," said Highway Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski, "more than 14,000 bicyclists will be killed or injured in 1972 and in 1973 there will be 25,000 victims."

Althouth the number of casualties increased in all age groups, the 15-34 year bracket is of grave concern to the Highway Patrol, for this young adult category registered a 77 percent rise during the quarter and a 120 percent increase during the past year.

A year ago in the same quarter there were 904 victims in this bracket, or 65 1/2 percent of the total.

RECORD BREAKERS - 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America Livestock Auction had its most successful year at 1972 Monterey County Fair. County Supervisor Loren Smith talks with Viki Taylor and Denna Ricca, who participated in auction. Twelve years ago, Smith, who was then manager of Seaside branch of Bank of America, began program whereby youngsters who sold animals at auction were paid immediately instead of having to wait several weeks until bookkeeping and accounting were finished. That system is still in effect today.

Navy School Hires 36 NYC Employees

The Naval Postgraduate School has 36 Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC) youngsters from the Monterey Peninsula employed through the 1972 Summer Employment Program for Youth. Four are from Monterey, two from Pacific Grove, 28 from Seaside, one from Fort Ord and one from Marina.

Thei jobs at the Navy school range from technical work in the Plasma Lab in the Physics Department to typing and distributing mail in the Student Mail Center.

To be eligible for the program, the NYC youngsters must meet the "need" criteria as established by the Civil Service Commission. The primary goal is to provide the youngsters aged 14 to 21 with the economic means to continue their education, to relate the role of education to the work-a-day world, and to provide them with insight into career possibilities and incentive to achieve set goals.

The worker from Marina is Steve Acevedo, 3025 Max Circle.

From Seaside are Teresa Andrada, 1634 Kimball Ave; Raymond L. Barnes, 1625 Lowell St.; Ellsworth Brown, 1443 Judson St.; John Brown, 1711 Harding; Debra Burdiz, #8 Athens Court; Susan D. Byrd, 1225 Flores Street; Archie Casion, 1721 Harding; Calvin Choates, 1754 Luzern; Gail Clewis, 1670 Waring St.; Margie Coleman, 1324 Lowell St.; Josephine Evans, 967 Hamilton Ave.; Michael Green, 1697 Goodwin St.; Beatriz and Cecilia Grijalva, 605 Frances St. and Patricia A. Isadore, Deborah Mostella, 1185 Elm St.; Steve Nicholson, 555 Sonoma St.; Eva Ng, 1211 Echo Ave.; John Oligschaeger, 1766 Waring St.; Eugene Palmer, 1706 Judson St.; Teresa Penn, 1681 Luzern St.; Anna Rivers, 1503 Yosemite; Mark Robinson, 1543 Waring St.; Saundra M. Stevens, 1365 Andrew Court; Steve Stephens, 1602 Luzern St.; Benjamin Taylor, 1887 Soto St.; Roberta Watson, 1658 Soto St.; and Steven Womack, 1765 Lowell St.

Play Is Opening

Los Olivos Pits, a short play adapted for Commedia dell' arte presentation will be performed by El Teatro Campesino at La Calavea, the open-air theatre in San Juan Bautista through September 3.

The story of Los Olivos Pits takes place in Spain and is about a lower class family, who having planted one olive shoot, argue, dream and plan for the day when they will become Rancheros (Patrons). However, their dreams of riches is manipulated by Scaramouche, the town hustler, and of course this poor family's tribulations are familiar to us all.

With masks, music and exaggerated movements this comic Italian Popular Comedy will provide ample opportunity for the actors to improvise and create on the spot entertainment. This Lope de Rueda "paseo," written in 1567, was adapted by Peter Berg and Peter Cohan for the San Francisco Mime Troupe production in 1966 and under the direction of R. G. Davis, played for four years in parks, theatres, gymnasiums.

And now in San Juan Bautista, as visiting teacher and director from San Francisco, Davis will be directing El Teatro Campesino in this 45 minute to one hour fast-paced comedy which will run until September 3rd. Perfectly suited to the open air stage at La Calavera Theater, the large gestures and volume of the performers in this 16th century Italian comic form makes all audible and beautiful in the free air.

For information call 623-4436 and remember that tickets for Los Olivos are as cheap as it is easy to find La Calavera, 36 Washington Street, in downtown San Juan Bautista.

In selective awareness used in the areas of self improvement.

Everybody's talking about pollution.

Woodsy Owl has 104 ways to stop it.

Sure.

We all know how awful pollution is. And we all know that we have to start soon if we're going to save America. But where do we start? And how?

Some of the answers are right on this page. Woodsy, the nation's antipollution owl, came up with 104 things that you and your family and neighbors can do. Today.

Tear out this page. Read it. Remember it. And make sure that everybody gets a good look at it. Even tack it up on a bulletin board. Remember. It's up to all of us to fight for our environment. We only have one earth. Let's make sure it's here for our children, and their children to enjoy.

No. 1 Learn these Woodsy Owl "Hoots," tell others about Woodsy Owl, and encourage them to help in our fight against pollution.

No. 2 Collect cans, bottles and papers and take them to the nearest recycling center. If there is no recycling center near you, contact your local city or county offices and encourage the establishment of such centers.

No. 3 Encourage Public Service groups to arrange for the collection of trash in your home town for recycling.

No. 4 Separate your household trash. Smash cans and put in one box; bottles in another; papers in another. This makes recycling easier.

No. 5 Don't throw away old clothes and furniture. Give them to someone who can use them or repair and sell. Every thing that doesn't land in the trash pile means that much less to be burned or disposed of in some way.

No. 6 Start an "ecology cupboard" in your home. Store reusable items like string, paper, boxes, cartons, plastic containers, ribbon, yarn. Reuse them before discarding. Be sure storage is neat and safe.

No. 7 Encourage companies to discover ways to reuse or safely dispose of plastic products. Right now, the only way to dispose of plastic is by incineration. This adds to our air pollution problem.

No. 8 Encourage companies to raise the bottle-deposit sum to encourage the return of bottles.

No. 9 When possible, ride your bike or walk to meetings, school, work, etc.; encourage others to do the same.

No. 10 Form car pools and share the ride to work, school, meetings, etc.; encourage others to do the same.

No. 11 Press for action by automobile manufacturers to produce a smog-free engine.

No. 12 Ask for low-lead or no-lead gasoline for your car.

No. 13 Keep your engine properly tuned approximately every 10,000 miles. Encourage others to do the same. This cuts down on exhaust emissions and helps reduce air pollution.

No. 14 Keep boat engines properly tuned and encourage others to keep theirs tuned also. An improperly tuned boat engine causes more petroleum wastes to go into the water and air.

No. 15 Encourage your fishermen friends to pick up their old fishing line or someone else's. If left on the ground it can kill or injure birds and small animals.

No. 16 When you take photographs, pick up used film packs. The packs form litter and some chemicals in the packs can poison animals.

No. 17 Encourage everyone to "Take only pictures... Leave only Footprints."

No. 18 Put metal tabs from drink cans and plastic carrier for six-packs in trash cans. They are hazardous to animals as well as being a litter problem.

No. 19 Keep your transistor radio volume set moderately. Noise is a form of pollution too.

No. 20 Encourage local officials to reduce noise pollution along freeways and heavily travelled streets by proper tree and shrub plantations.

No. 21 Encourage everyone, including local park officials, to plant just one more tree or shrub. Trees play a major part in purifying air; the oxygen they release dilutes pollution in the air. Trees also help regulate temperatures; tree transpiration cools the air like a gigantic air conditioner.

No. 22 Ask Mom, when she does the family wash, to measure detergents carefully, using only enough to get clothes clean.

No. 23 Place small pieces of leftover soap in a piece of Mom's discarded nylon hose; give it to a child to bubble up their bath. This uses up bits of soap, recycles the piece of nylon hose and cleans the younger generation, all at the same time!

No. 24 Run your dishwasher only once a day, or less, depending on size of your family. This helps to conserve water.

No. 25 Put a brick in your tank! A brick in your toilet tank reduces the amount of water used to flush.

No. 26 Turn water faucets off firmly to stop leaking and conserve water.

No. 27 Don't leave garden hoses and faucets running for long periods of time. Leave lawn sprinklers on just long enough to water grass thoroughly but not long enough for water to run-off down the street.

No. 28 Don't throw trash in streams, lakes, rivers and oceans; it belongs in a trash can, not in our water supplies!

No. 29 Don't hide your trash in the snow. When the snow melts in the spring, you'll be the cause of sight and water pollution.

No. 30 Are there adequate litter containers in your city parks, schools and nearby recreation areas? If not, discuss the matter with public officials; offer to help obtain used oil drums (Service stations will often donate drums); clean, paint and decorate them with Woodsy's slogan "Give A-Hoot... Don't Pollute."

No. 31 Keep beaches, parks and roadsides clean. Urge your friends to do the same.

No. 32 Organize "Hooter Patrol" and, with the aid of the members, look for pollution problems in your area. Then take action to stop these problems.

No. 33 Don't spray paint on rocks, fences or buildings. This causes sight pollution and makes a countryside or city street ugly.

No. 34 Picking plants and wildflowers leaves the land bare, ugly and subject to erosion. Leave them there for all to share!

No. 35 Read instructions and contents carefully before buying any kind of pesticide.

No. 36 Use chemical pesticides sparingly. Follow directions carefully.

No. 37 Pull your lawn weeds out by hand. This is good, healthful exercise and eliminates the need for applying herbicides.

No. 38 Dispose of excess pesticides and their containers according to instructions on the label or advice of County Agents. Keep 'em out of drains and water.

No. 39 Average air fresheners and deodorizers are a lot stronger, chemically, than their names imply. Open windows and doors to let in fresh air; this will do much to rid your home of offensive odors.

No. 40 Several bowls of vinegar placed in a smoke-laden room will clear the air quickly. Any liquid has smoke-absorbing qualities. A drop of cologne in water will help too.

No. 41 Do you see something ecologically unsound? Write to the company, calling attention to the pollution they are causing... this can help.

No. 42 Filter-tip cigarettes can be harmful to cesspools and even the largest city sewage processing plants. Put them in ashtrays, not drains and toilets.

No. 43 Some dyestuffs do not break down biologically and should be regarded with a wary eye. White tissues and paper do not contain dye.

No. 44 Be an ecologically aware shopper. Don't buy goods whose by-products or residues result in unnecessary trash.

No. 45 Support adequate local anti-litter and pollution laws and their proper enforcement.

No. 46 Public officials can help encourage interstate cooperation to control water, air and land pollution on a regional basis.

No. 47 Accumulated wire coat hangers can be tied in bundles and returned to your cleaner for reuse. If you throw them out they add immensely to the garbage problem.

No. 48 Clean, clear and disinfect sinks and drains with ordinary table salt. Salt is not toxic, and it has antiseptic and disinfectant properties, as well as abrasive, cleansing ones.

No. 49 Help decrease the mountains of garbage we generate each day by using cloth napkins.

No. 50 Protest overpackaging of fresh foods to store managers.

No. 51 Make sure your car has the required smog device and have it checked regularly.

No. 52 If you put your garbage on the street for collection, make sure the container is spill-proof. If you live in buildings with incinerators, follow instructions so you don't litter incinerator rooms.

No. 53 Organic materials like cooking fat, clog plumbing and septic tanks, causing sewage overflow. Put them in your garbage pail... not your sink.

No. 54 Return nutrients to the soil. Start a compost pile with leaves and grass clippings. Never burn leaves and trash.

No. 55 Smokey Bear is so right! Be careful with matches... fires cause air, water and sight pollution.

No. 56 Use a hand mower if your lawn is small. Keep gasoline operated tools in top condition so noise and exhaust fumes are minimized.

No. 57 A littered picnic area is spoiled for everyone. Dispose of your trash properly and pick up discards left by others.

No. 58 Your house should be well insulated and tree-shaded to minimize fuel consumption in winter and air conditioning loads in summer. This helps to keep power loads down and helps stop pollution.

No. 59 Don't use washers and dryers during peak electrical load hours (5-7 pm). The strain at your local generating station may add to air pollution.

No. 60 Use low wattage bulbs in lamps not used for reading and turn out lights not being used to conserve power.

No. 61 Carry a litter bag in your car and boat. Bring it home and dispose of it properly, after your trip.

No. 62 Encourage local newspapers and civic club publications to publish facts on progress being made to help stop pollution. Help keep everyone informed.

No. 63 Don't sound your horn unless safety dictates. Keep your muffler and tailpipe repaired. This will help reduce noise pollution.

No. 64 Set up a "cleaner environment corner" in your school or city library. Include books, magazines, reprints and pictures on ecology, as well as Woodsy Owl materials.

No. 65 Help create community interest in schools. Focus on litter problems and efforts to combat it. Student governments can set up good housekeeping rules for school use and enforce them. Establish a school environment improvement club or committee including faculty and students.

No. 66 Proper engine maintenance to reduce smog and litter prevention instruction can be integrated into driver training. Suggest this to your school.

No. 67 Encourage teachers to write or contact local offices of agencies with active anti-pollution programs for information.

No. 68 Promote a teenage "Cleaner Environment" campaign to help clean up all kinds of pollution.

No. 69 Ask national organizations and corporations for information and assistance. Many have experience in environmental improvement programs and are willing to help.

No. 70 Examine your place of work: if you find pollution problems caused by your production, take steps to reduce or eliminate them. Make sure there are adequate trash receptacles on the premises.

No. 71 Encourage installation of scrubber systems on stacks to eliminate noxious emissons into the air.

No. 72 Encourage installation of modern, adequate waste disposal equipment on local industry operations.

No. 73 Be sure contaminated water and sewage is not discharged into local rivers, lakes and streams. Seek the installation of adequate water treatment plants.

No. 74 Talk to religious groups. Stress the spiritual side of nature and man's dependence on it for his very existence.

No. 75 Encourage the production of ecology films for school distribution.

No. 76 Encourage companies to locate new facilities so that employees can use mass transit systems or help their employees form car pools.

No. 77 Help restore natural beauty to areas where raw materials have been stripped.

No. 78 Seek adoption of safeguards to prevent oil spillage from tankers and off-shore drilling. Help in the clean-up effort wherever spillage occurs.

No. 79 Discourage the erection of signs that contribute to sight pollution.

No. 80 Seek elimination or control of horn blasts, factory whistles or other loud sounds that add to noise pollution.

No. 81 Contact airline companies and encourage the installation of smog-free engines for their planes.

No. 82 Encourage development of packages that are reusable, recyclable or otherwise easily disposable.

No. 83 Encourage beautification of office and plant facilities where you work.

No. 84 Seek cooperation of public officials to make sure public facilities don't pollute in violation of codes and safety standards.

No. 85 Encourage public officials to develop fair standards for all so that companies without pollution device controls do not gain unfair competitive advantage over companies that have these devices.

No. 86 Ask public officials to support basic research programs required to control pollution and promote recycling.

No. 87 Suggest incentives for companies to install pollution abatement devices.

No. 88 Attend local government meetings: city councils, boards of supervisors, etc.; and ask about their plans to control pollution; offer your assistance.

No. 89 Support measures to improve our environment and reduce pollution... even if it costs money... and it will!

No. 90 Work with official city beautification committees. If none exist, help create a citizens' committee thru support of Chamber of Commerce, women's and service groups, PTA and youth organizations.

No. 91 Organize a community conference and discuss positive approaches to pollution control. Invite public officials, representatives of labor and industry as well as other interested groups and individuals. Get all the facts and initiate action programs.

No. 92 Survey community opinion to determine how much support there is for cleaner environment programs. If there isn't enough... educate the people for their support.

No. 93 Be sure your community takes advantage of grants provided by (HUD) U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development for urban area beautification programs.

No. 94 To decrease sight pollution, urge city officials to provide and maintain better, benches, bus shelters, lamp posts, street signs and trash containers.

No. 95 Urge public officials to adopt a sensible ordinance to govern installation of commercial and industrial signs (including billboards).

No. 96 Encourage local home builders to develop a program of leaving as many trees as possible when they develop a subdivision.

No. 97 Encourage aesthetic plantings around freeways and public buildings to include plants and trees that have a higher resistance to air pollution.

No. 98 Enlist the help of local news media to help in pollution control efforts. State purpose clearly to elicit strong editorial support. Present all facts and avoid one-sided statements.

No. 99 Teach your children a reverence for life; inspire them with a knowledge of Nature. This will motivate them to work for and demand a cleaner environment throughout their lives.

No. 100 There is no season for pollution, it occurs every day, all year. Do something each day to fight pollution. Encourage others to do the same!

No. 101 If you own a trail bike, learn where the proper trails are located and, use them! Trails that go off the trail cause erosion. Erosion pollutes, killing fish and plants.

No. 102 Encourage your local trash collection company to collect cans, bottles and papers in separate containers for recycling. This will also help reduce the solid waste problem.

No. 103 Encourage your telephone and power companies to place their utility lines underground.

No. 104 Work with department stores and telephone companies to help collect old directories and catalogs for recycling.

Give a hoot! Don't pollute.

Seats Still Available

More than 42,500 patrons have attended Oregon Shakespearean Festival production in Ashland, Oregon, during the first half of its current 32nd season, according to Festival General Manager William Patton.

This is an increase of approximately 1,000 over this same point last year, he said. With the expansion of the season, there will be room for more vacationers during August and early September, especially on weekdays.

The three month season opened June 17 with an early Preview Week and the full repertory started on June 24. Average attendance between the indoor Bowmer Theatre and the outdoor Elizabethan stagehouse since the start of the season has been 70 percent of capacity.

Only 20 of the remaining 82 performances are sold out, according to Patton.

Though August is traditionally the month of the Festival's heaviest attendance, good seating is still available for performances on August 11, 13, 14, 16, 21, 22, 24, 27, 29, 30 and 31, including Labor Day weekend, to the close on September 10.

Playing in matinee and evening repertory are "The Taming of the Shrew," "Love's Labour's Lost," "Troilus and Cressida," "Uncle Vanya" "The Crucible," and "Henry the Fourth, Part Two."

Information on the Oregon Shalespearean Festival's current season is available by writing "Shakespeare," Ashland ORE 97520, or by calling the Festival box office at (503) 482-2111.

California Brandy Board Offers Spirited Services

The California Brandy Advisory Board, formed last year by leading brandymakers, has established a home entertainment consulting service and a general news bureau to provide consumer information on all matters concerning brandy and distilled spirits in general.

The home entertainment consulting service is supported by specialists in a variety of areas, including home economics, entertainment and contemporary living. Services offered range from food and beverage recipes to unusual entertainment and dining ideas. Feature material and graphic services are also available.

The news bureau provides data, both technical and general, on distilled spirits, trends in beverage consumption and industry developments, especially as they affect California brandy. Research projects and other speical requests are accepted.

"Prompting the formation of these consumer and media service," says James R. McManus, board president, "has been the tremendous upsurge in popularity of California brandy as an all-purpose spirit. During the past decase, California brandy sales have doubled and indications are the same will happen during the seventies."

According to McManus, the growing preference for California barndy, particulary among young adults, is due to the unique character of the spirit itself. Unlike its foreign counterparts, Californu brandy is a light and fruity beverage, richly reminiscent of the fine wines from which it's made. Thus, as more and more people discover it, they are turning to it as a versatile cocktail and mixed drink base, suitable for all seasons and situations.

"For several years now, there's been a strong trend in this country toward milder spirits" says McManus. "This has naturally brought California brandy into wider recognition. It combines well with practically all mixes without overpowering them and, because it is a natural grape product, adds a delicate vinous fragrance."

During the coming months, the brandy advisory board plans a number of national promotions intended to spur increased awareness of California brandy as an all-purpose spirit and premium product. At the same time, its entertainment consultants and news bureau anticipants expanding their services to consumers and the media.

"While consumption of California brandy has been moving forward briskly," McManus says, "there's still widespread lack of awareness on the part of the public of its find character. This circumstance is similar to that which existed with California wines several decades ago. It is the determination of the board, premrily through its entertainment and news services, to correct that."

In addition to James McManus, the California Brandy Advisory Board is composed of Jack Welsch, Fromm & Sichel, Inc. (Chairman); John Cella, United Vintners, Inc. (Vice-Chairman); Ernest Hass, East-Side Winery (Secretary); Kerby Anderson, Guild Wineries & Distilleries (Treasurer); Keith Nylander, Bear Moutain Winery; Robert Setrakian, California Growers Wineries; Mario Perelli-Minetti, California Wine Assoc; fred Franzia, Franzia Brothers Winery; Irvine Mettler, Woodbridge Vineyards Assoc.; Seymour Greenberg, Schenley Industries, Inc.; J.L. Riddle, Vie-Del Co.; Vincent Zaninovich, Geo. Zaninovich, Inc. Les Portello is the representatives from the Bureau of Marketing, California Department of Agriculture.

Fletcher Outlines United Negro College Fund Goals

Arthur Fletcher, executive director of the United Negro College Fund and former Assistant Secretary of Labor, was in the bay area recently to outline the UNCF's 1972 campaign and to introduce the new UNCF area director for Northern California and the Pacific Northwest--Ray W. Williams.

In a press conference and at a luncheon for civic and community leaders at the Leamington Hotel in Oakland on July 13, Fletcher said he had high hopes for strong support of the United Negro College Fund in the bay area.

One reason for this, he said, was his own roots here. He had been a schoolteacher in Berkeley and had reared his five children in the bay aea before going to the state of Washington, where he was a member of the Pasco City Council and later served as special assistant to the governor.

Earlier, Fletcher had played professional football with the Los Angeles Rams, the Baltimore Colts and the Hamilton, Canada, Tiger Cats.

More recently Fletcher, who is a Republican, was one of the highest-ranking Blacks in the Nixon Administration, serving in the Department of Labor as Assistant Secretary of Employment Standards.

He resigned that post to become a United States alternate delegate to the 26th Session of the General Assembly of the United Nations.

Fletcher described his [illegible] United Negro College Fund as an exciting challenge which called for the combined participation of government, corporations, foundations and "grass roots" individuals and organizations to provide the 40 member colleges with the financial support needed to educate their more than 45,000 students.

The 1972 goal is $12.5 million, he said of which $250,000 is to be raised in the bay area.

Via Interstate Highway 5, points out the National Automobile Club, it's only a 15-minute drive from downtown San Diego to the Mexican border.
